On the Map – FutureVision Technologies

Do you remember when we were promised that technology would make us a "paperless society"? Whether you are responsible for a small business or a large corporation, you are aware that this was a false promise! It can be a costly venture—both in money and time—to manage the huge amounts of paper found in all business settings.

Taylorville will soon become home to a company that offers real and affordable solutions to your data management problems. FutureVision is a leader in automated data entry, advanced document imaging, digital conversion, and workflow management for companies of every size. Using automated character recognition and comprehensive data verification, FutureVision provides a highly efficient method of converting paper to digital form which reduces data entry costs, shortens cycle time, manages peak processing, and provides virtually unlimited processing capacity.

FutureVision Technologies' core business is automated data entry and real time processing. This service allows companies from all industries to have immediate access and control of data that would otherwise require expensive and inefficient manual data entry. Many large Insurance clients are able to send high volumes of claims images to FutureVision and receive back complete and accurate data files in less than 24 hours. Numerous clients use our real time processing which allows the client to receive their data back in less than 30 minutes. FutureVision is working to shrink turnaround time in all of its markets and increase quality through the use of automated processes.

Their Digital Report Archiving services eliminate expensive and inefficient paper output and address shortcomings of microfiche, microfilm, and other report storage methods. They can store and retrieve reports on any storage device, including network drives, CD-ROM, or DVD—giving their clients instant access to any report page among millions within seconds.

Most imaging solutions can only handle daily document flow to bring their clients' information on line, leaving unaddressed the problem of how to convert their existing backfile. FutureVision's state-of-the-art systems and highly skilled personnel convert their clients' documents into digital records that can be seamlessly uploaded into workflow and archive/retrieval systems. For clients without these systems, FutureVision includes database and retrieval software as part of their conversion services.

In short, FutureVision is not only on the cutting edge of document imaging and retrieval technology, but their new state-of-the-art building also boasts the most secure storage available for those records. When a company is looking to outsource their document and information management needs, FutureVision is the superior and affordable solution. Their 40,000 square foot building at 4548 South Atherton Drive will be the new home for FutureVision, as well as for select tenants who will lease office space there.

The philosophy of FutureVision's owners extends from excellent technological services into human services within their community. Many of their employees will participate in the Breast Cancer walk in October and have generously assisted several families with Sub-for-Santa projects, a tradition they plan to continue. Already they are looking in Taylorville for opportunities to be good neighbors. Next time you travel down 4500 South just west of I-15, be sure to notice this attractive new home of FutureVision in Taylorville.

The Best of Taylorville Award — Winner of August's Contest!

Blaine and Margie Smith Home is "Best of Taylorville" in August

Longtime Taylorville resident Blaine Smith says a primary responsibility of any homeowner is to make sure his property reflects the very best of the community. Mr. Smith and his wife Margie, who live at 4209 South 1440 West, appear to be excellent examples. The finely manicured landscaping, surrounding a modest, red brick home, has been selected as "The Best of Taylorville" for the month of August.

The Smith home is surrounded by skillfully trimmed waves of bushes, bordered by an eight-foot high wall of clipped shrubs. Colorful annuals grow in meticulously plotted beds, which accent the lush lawn. Maple trees are neatly pruned.

Blaine, who has lived in the home for 50 years, says the secret to his success is quite simple: "I just do what my wife tells me to do."

The Smiths will receive a beautiful plaque donated by Crown Trophy, along with a gift certificate from Applebee's, both Taylorville businesses.

The Best of Taylorville Award

This award honors the residence or business that best demonstrates outstanding care and presentation of landscaping and building structure. The award is to be given monthly (April through October).

Winners are nominated by residents and voted on by members of the Taylorville City LARP (Leisure, Arts, Recreation and Parks) Committee.

Property owners, Blaine and Margie Smith, will be formally awarded the Best of Taylorville Award for August during the City Council meeting on September 6, 2006.

Would you like to submit a nomination?

Residents are invited to submit nominations for september's Best of Taylorville via email to rkish@taylorvilleut.gov, by filling out a simple nomination form at Taylorville City Hall, or by standard mail to.
