

MAYOR'S MESSAGE

Dear Friends and Neighbors,

There is always a sense of excitement in the air as we retire the past year and look forward to all the possibilities of the new one ahead. But this year, I am even more enthused to ring in Year 2020.

We have been extensively planning for this new year and the decade beyond. We've engaged in spirited Cabinet meetings each week, as well as quarterly Priorities Meetings with the City Council and staff. We held our first 2020 Summit, which was a resounding success in gathering stakeholders in a networking forum at Regal Cinemas. We met in community gatherings, including our Envisioning Event at the Taylorsville Recreation Center, where residents huddled with planners to discuss ways to invigorate four primary commercial centers in our city.

We applauded this past year as big announcements were made, including the decision by The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints to locate a temple at 2603 W. 4700 South (see story on Page 3), and Target's move to bring a new store to The Crossroads of Taylorsville center. We watched with eagerness as the mounds of dirt first piled up for its foundation and then the walls rose high during construction of the new Mid-Valley Performing Arts Center.

We talked with landscaping and architecture experts to plan how our new City Center will look as we bring the Arts Center and adjacent City Hall together into one cohesive, community-centric space. We cheered at Ribbon Cuttings as many new small businesses opened across the city, and we gave our input at public hearings for the new Midvalley Connector Bus Rapid Transit line. We waited patiently as the aqueduct at 6200 South and Bangarter Highway was moved in advance of the coming freeway-style interchange there, and we worked diligently in further defining our 2020 Vision that includes these projects and so much more (see accompanying story).

It is why we are thrilled to turn a page on the calendar and see this year now here. Many of our plans will come to fruition this year, including the opening of the Mid-Valley Performing Arts Center, the new City Center landscaping, the Target store opening, development of the Midvalley Connector BRT route, and the opening of the Bangarter Highway interchange at 6200 South.

It will be a whirlwind year, to be sure, and we can't wait. But we are not stopping at the end of this year. Our 2020 Vision is a vision for the 2020s decade, beginning on Jan. 1, 2020, and ending on Dec. 31, 2029. In fact, I have a feeling these '20s will be roaring for us!

2020 Vision Kicks off a New Year Filled with Activity

City leaders have adopted a 2020 Vision for the next decade, including the year 2020 and beyond. That vision focuses on five key areas: economic development, public safety, transportation, parks and recreation, and community building.

"These are the building blocks that make up a community," said Mayor Kristie Overson. "We believe by concentrating on these areas, both with our attention and resources, we can continue to expand on all of the city's successes in making our city even stronger."

The Mayor and City Council have been working with key stakeholders and community members over the past year in developing this vision with the goal of bringing sharpness and clarity to the direction of the city.

Efforts include bringing new business and housing to the city, and plans for prime development locations, transportation, and land use. City leaders also continue to focus on ensuring a safe community and building the quality of life that makes Taylorsville the preferred place to be.

"Our vision focuses on new business and economic growth taking place across the city, as well as development opportunities and projects on the horizon," Mayor Overson said.

City leaders are calling their efforts a "2020 Vision" because, of course, perfect eyesight is 20/20 and they are looking to the upcoming decade called the 2020s, beginning on Jan. 1, 2020, and ending on Dec. 31, 2029. This planning process is meant to create a forward-thinking, proactive and reinvigorating approach focused on better serving residents, visitors, business and property owners.

Specific projects planned for completion in Year 2020 include:

- The Mid-Valley Performing Arts Center, coming in fall 2020. The $39 million center, operated by Salt Lake County, will feature the 400-seat Mainstage Theater, 200-seat Studio 5400 Theater and multi-use rehearsal space, as well as public art installations. It will serve as home to the Taylorsville Arts Council.
- A new Target Store at Crossroads of Taylorsville, opening in fall 2020. The store at 5800 S. Redwood Road offers high visibility and ease of location. The I-215 freeway exits directly into The Crossroads center. The center and store also are bordered by main arterial Redwood Road to the east and 5400 South at the north of the center.
- The Midvalley Connector Bus Rapid Transit Project. The Midvalley Connector will link Frontrunner and the Green, Red, and Blue TRAX lines connecting Murray, Taylorsville and West Valley City. Riders will access 15 stations and 1.4 miles of dedicated transit lanes on 4500/4700 South, as well as a new transit hub at Salt Lake Community College.
- City Center Landscaping and Design. The ambitious new landscaping and open space design will tie the Mid-Valley Performing Arts Center and City Hall into one cohesive, community-centric space.
- The new freeway-style interchange at Bangarter Highway and 6200 South. Utah Department of Transportation crews spent the fall working to move an aqueduct at the site. The aqueduct relocation will shave a year off the construction time of the interchange.

Children Shop with a Shield in Taylorsville

The Unified Police Department and Salt Lake County Sheriff's Office played Santa for dozens of children and their families at the Walmart in Taylorsville.

The annual Shopping with a Shield event is meant to help others during the holidays. Officers not only raise funds but also donate their own time and money, and then purchase gifts with the kids.

Mayor Kristie Overson, Taylorsville Precinct Police Chief Tracy Wyant and Sheriff Rosie Rivera were among those who gathered for the holiday fun this past month. The event started with a police motorcade that traveled through Taylorsville from Bennion Jr. High to the store on Redwood Road.

The children delighted to see the vehicles lined up, interact with the mascots and most especially pick out the perfect gifts with officers.

Holiday Giving Donations are Delivered to the Golden Giving Center

A big thank you to all the businesses, residents, employees and community partners who gave to Taylorsville's citywide Holiday Giving drive for the Golden Living Center.

This past month, Mayor Kristie Overson and employees from City Hall delivered large boxes filled with candy, blankets, McDonald's gift cards, soda (used for bingo prizes), washcloths, scarves, toiletries and slippers to the center for seniors living there.

"It is inspiring how thoughtful and selfless those living and working in Taylorsville are," Mayor Overson said. "It means so much to me and especially to the Golden Living Center. Thank you to all!"

COUNCIL CORNER

2020 Will Bring Some Exciting New Projects for Our City

By Council Member Meredith Harker

Can you believe it is now the year 2020?! I thought that was a year for science fiction and dystopian novels. And yet here it is. What are some of your goals and aspirations for this new decade? Well, as a City Council, we have several. Our focus for the last several months has been looking ahead with our 2020 city vision and now this is the year where we will see some of it come to fruition.

Of course, the most visible one is the new Mid-Valley Performing Arts Center that will be opening this fall. I can't wait to sit in one of the two theaters to watch a show from our own Taylorsville Arts Council or a traveling performance from across the country.

Another marvelous addition to our city will be our new gathering space outside of City Hall. Expect to see work start on that soon with an amphitheater, green space, a gateway sign, beautiful foliage, and walking paths. This will be a perfect place to enjoy food trucks, a movie on the lawn, a farmers' market, and many other community events.

We'd love to welcome all the state employees who will be moving into their new State Office Building on the former American Express campus. We hope that they find their new home comfortable, productive and welcoming, and that they enjoy working in our great city.

We must mention the Redwood Road beautification project and the Bus Rapid Transit line that will be starting soon, as well. These two projects will help give better access to our city and make traveling through the center of the valley easier and more convenient. Also exciting is the planned opening this fall of a new Target store at The Crossroads of Taylorsville shopping center, and we can't forget the new interchange at 6200 South and Bangerter Highway that will make driving so much easier.

As always, we will continue to hold fun community events and include some new ones as well. Taylorsville Dayzz will be the biggest one ever. Food trucks and movies at City Hall will be coming again this year. There will be the safety fair, a spring planting, a spike ball tournament, our Earth Day event, Saturday with Santa, and all the City Council meetings, which everyone is invited to attend. It will be a year filled with Taylorsville spirit and coming together.

We invite you to join us in our 2020 Vision to make Taylorsville the best city it can possibly be now and for years to come.

Temple in Taylorsville will be Built at 4700 South

Taylorsville leaders are pleased with the announced location by The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints of a temple to be constructed within the city at 2603 W. 4700 South. Church officials announced the exact location this past month.

The church owns the property where the temple will be built. A church meetinghouse currently sits on the site, which is bordered by 4700 South to the north and I-215 to the east. The Taylors Landing and Westwood Shopping Centers are located across the street.

The temple site also is located on the Midvalley Connector Bus Rapid Transit line that is under development along 4700 South.

"The site is easily accessible and manageable from a traffic standpoint," said Taylorsville Mayor Kristie Overson. "It is a visible location supported by nearby businesses and vibrant neighborhoods, as well as adjacent thoroughfares and convenient freeway onramps.

"In our view, The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints could not have picked a better location," Mayor Overson added. "We anticipate that the temple site and investment by the church in this location will further invigorate the area and our community."

The church indicated in a press release that the site is 7.5 acres. Plans call for a three-story temple of approximately 70,000 square feet, with a center spire. The existing meetinghouse on that site will be removed and will not be replaced.

The church stated that further information — including interior and exterior renderings — will be made public later. Groundbreaking dates have not been set.

City leaders first learned about the church's plans to locate a temple in Taylorsville when the announcement was made by President Russell M. Nelson at the church's 189th Semi-annual General Conference on Oct. 5.

"This is such good news for our city," Mayor Overson said at the time. "We look forward to the serenity, peace and beauty that a temple is sure to bring to our community, as well as the contribution it's expected to make to Taylorsville's rich mosaic.

"We have long enjoyed a good partnership with The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints," she said, "and we look forward to working even more closely on this project."

City leaders anticipate that such collaboration would include approval of building permits, as well as coordination of any needed traffic mitigation.

The temple in Taylorsville is one of eight new temples, including two in Utah, that the church plans to build. The other announced Utah temple will be built in Orem.

Taylorsville will be the first temple built in the Salt Lake Valley since the Draper and Oquirrh Mountain temples opened in 2009. The Taylorsville and Orem temples will be the 22nd and 23rd temples in Utah.

Saturday with Santa

Santa visited Taylorsville over the holidays and found everyone on his nice list. The annual Saturday with Santa event held at the Taylorsville-Bennion Heritage Museum marked its 15th anniversary this past month with plenty of fun for all, including children's crafts and games, choir performances and tasty treats. Thank you to the Taylorsville Preservation Committee, as well as the Parks and Recreation and Cultural Diversity committees, for sponsoring another fantastic event!

Project planning has taken place in each of the vision's five key areas, including:

Economic Development. Recent master-planning efforts have focused on retail centers as well as commercial district envisioning and revitalization. The planning efforts have concentrated on four primary areas: 5400 S. Redwood Road, 4800 S. Redwood Road, 4100 S. Redwood Road, and Bangerter Highway and 5400 South.

Transportation. In addition to the Midvalley Connector BRT project and the 6200 South interchange, the city continues to work with partnering agencies such as the Utah Department of Transportation and Utah Transit Authority to improve travel time, reduce traffic congestion and increase peak-hour roadway capacity. The new 5400 South interchange at Bangerter Highway, for example, has shaved commute drives by an average 10 minutes.

Public Safety. Crime in Taylorsville continues to decline. Also of note, despite national police shortages, including in the state of Utah, the Taylorsville Precinct is fully staffed. This is a credit to the Unified Police Department's aggressive recruitment process, focus as a full-service police organization and vast opportunities for advancement and professional growth. Additionally, the city works in tandem with Unified Fire Authority and its two stations in Taylorsville: #118 next to City Hall and the Taylorsville-Plymouth Fire Station #117 on Redwood Road.

Parks and Recreation. The city, with assistance from Salt Lake County, led a large clean-up effort along the banks of the Jordan River, including vegetation removal and trash cleanup. The city's Community Development Department has focused on trails and trail improvements, and the city additionally is investing in its many neighborhood parks, as well as Valley Regional Park.

Building Community. The city plans to continue its tradition of supporting community-wide events with the reliance on a vast network of volunteers. Taylorsville leaders also are working in close collaboration with city partners including Salt Lake Community College, the Taylorsville Senior Center, the Taylorsville Bennion-Heritage Center, Salt Lake County's Taylorsville Library and Taylorsville Recreation Center, as well as Granite School District and our neighborhood schools.

"We want everyone to come together in working to implement this vision," Mayor Overson said. "There is so much opportunity that awaits. We can't wait to see it happen."

2020 Vision Logos are Installed on Police Cars, City Vehicles

Decals with the city's 2020 Vision logo were installed on 35 UPD vehicles and about a dozen city vehicles over a couple of days at Taylorsville's Fire Station #118 next to City Hall. Officers and city workers brought their vehicles to the station's garage where UPD Taylorsville Precinct Chief Tracy Wyant and Det. Scott Lloyd personally worked to attach the blue-and-white decals to both sides of each car.

"We wanted to show our support for the city's 2020 Vision," said Chief Wyant. "Public safety is a key component of that vision, and it means so much to us that Mayor Overson and the City Council have included what we do as a formal part of the city's plans for the future."

The 2020 Vision that city leaders have adopted for the next decade, including the year 2020 and subsequent years, focuses on five key areas including: economic development, public safety, transportation, parks and recreation, and community building.

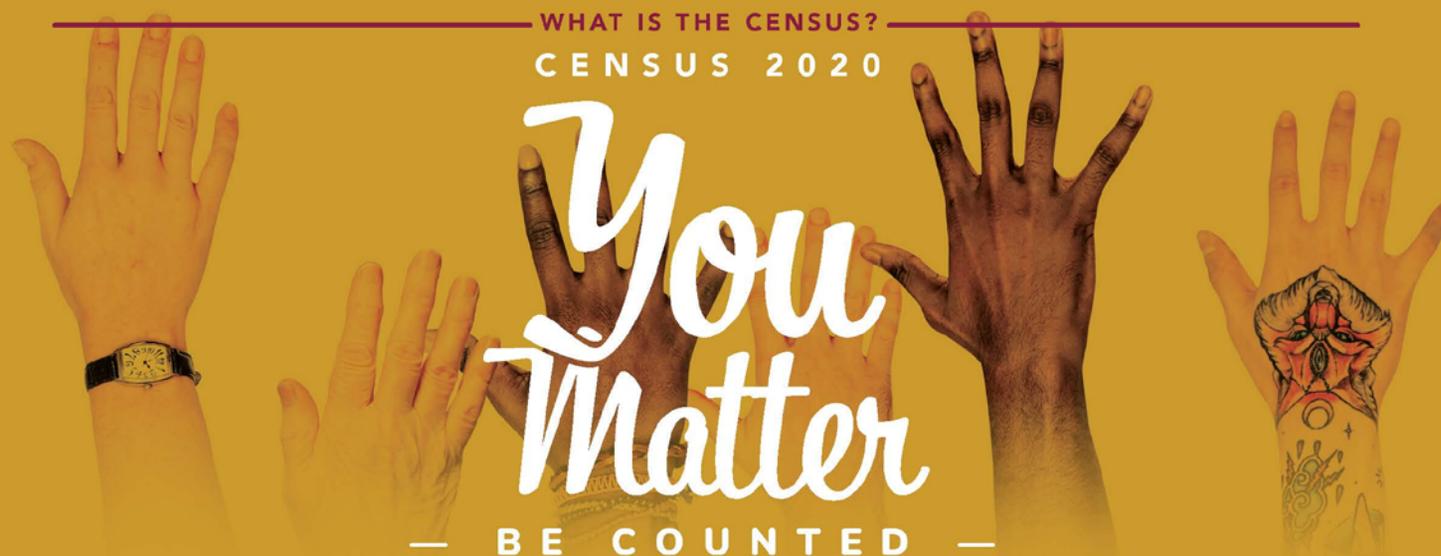

In reflection of this vision and its focus on public safety, city leaders made it a priority during the last legislative session to support the restoration of Tier II retirement benefits for police officers and firefighters. The bill, which was passed into law, increases the amount someone hired after mid-2011 would receive in retirement, from 37.5 percent of their salary to 50 percent, after 25 years of service. Police officers and firefighters backed the bill as a way to improve recruitment and retention, noting that many agencies are having trouble filling positions. The change goes into effect this year, 2020.

"We want to make sure that our public safety officers know how much we appreciate, admire and respect them," said Mayor Overson. "It is the primary reason public safety is such an important part of our 2020 Vision. What our officers and firefighters do for our city is invaluable."

Mayor Overson, who is a member of the governing board of the Unified Police Department and serves as chair of the UPD Board Finance Committee, also has worked to secure raises for UPD personnel. "Public safety, which represents about 42 percent of our Taylorsville budget, is critical for our city," she said.

CENSUS 2020 AND YOU

The U.S. Constitution requires a count, once every 10 years, of everyone living in the country. The count must include people of all ages, races, and ethnic groups; citizens and non-citizens alike. Every household should complete a census form (either online, by mail or phone) by April 1, 2020. The Census is central to our democracy and having an accurate population count is critical for understanding and meeting our community's needs.

WHY DOES THE CENSUS MATTER?

FEDERAL FUNDING: Utah receives about $5.7 billion a year in federal funding, according to an analysis by George Washington University – that's about $1,870 per Utah resident. Key programs that rely on this funding include:

- Highway planning and construction
- Medicaid
- Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP)
- Medicare Part B
- Section 8 and other housing assistance
- Special education grants (IDEA)
- Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP)
- Head Start
- Emergency Planning

POLITICAL REPRESENTATION: Census data determine the number of U.S. representatives each state sends to Congress and are used to set district boundaries at the state and local levels.

DECISION-MAKING: Census responses are part of the official statistics used by the County and are the main source of data for decisions made at the national, state, and local levels. Government, businesses, nonprofits, and foundations use census data to allocate funding, define where services are delivered, and promote economic development.

DEMOCRACY: It is important for everyone to be counted in the Census to ensure all voices are heard and fairly represented. Inaccurate information suppresses the voices of undercounted groups and undermines the basic political equality that is central to our democracy.

CENSUS 2020 WILL TAKE PLACE ONLINE FOR THE FIRST TIME

Options for completing the form via telephone or mail will be available. Computers with internet access will be available for public use at libraries and other public buildings. Individuals can visit slco.org/census for more information.

Taylorsville Bennion Heritage REMEMBRANCES

This month's article from the Historic Preservation Committee is very unique. The decision was made to highlight some uncommon phrases/words that are mostly no longer in existence in 2020. They are vintage words, for sure.

Some of them are listed below:

Best thing since Sliced Bread!	Right as Rain	The bee's knees
Over Yonder	Good grief	For crying out loud
Good night nurse	Pollyfoxin	Goin' up north
That's the cat's meow	Guldarnit

If we have brought a smile to your face — GREAT! Have a perfect New Year. You'll be hearing more from our committee soon ... and that's No Balony.

Ensure Winter Safety, Guard Against Carbon Monoxide Poisoning

By UFA Capt. Richard Rich

Winter is upon us and the temperatures have dropped. Our furnaces have kicked into overdrive in an effort to keep us comfortable. With this additional demand for heat in our living space comes the risk of carbon monoxide build-up that can result in carbon monoxide poisoning. It is a good idea to have your furnace tuned to ensure it is running at peak efficiency, not only for savings in your pocketbook but for peace of mind that your family will be safe as they sleep.

As our furnaces burn natural gas to produce heat, the byproducts of combustion are vented to the outside of our homes through the duct system. With a system that is operating properly, you have nothing to worry about. But a system that is dirty, out of adjustment or has cracked ductwork is another situation that could prove disastrous.

Carbon monoxide is one of the byproducts of combustion. Carbon monoxide is a colorless, odorless gas that has a molecular weight approximately the same as the atmospheric air around us. What does all this mean? It means we cannot see the gas; we cannot smell the gas and the gas does not rise up and out into the atmosphere. It does not collect in the low-lying areas of our homes and neighborhoods. Why is this important? Carbon monoxide is toxic to our bodies.

Exposure to carbon monoxide (CO) impedes the blood's ability to carry oxygen to body tissues and vital organs. When carbon monoxide is inhaled, it combines with hemoglobin (an iron protein component of red blood cells), producing carboxyhemoglobin (COHb), which greatly diminishes hemoglobin's oxygen-carrying capacity. Hemoglobin's binding affinity for carbon monoxide is 300 times greater than its affinity for oxygen. As a result, small amounts of carbon monoxide can dramatically reduce hemoglobin's ability to transport oxygen. Basically, we suffocate from the inside without even realizing what is happening.

Common symptoms of carbon monoxide exposure are headache, nausea, rapid breathing, weakness, exhaustion, dizziness and confusion. Hypoxia (severe oxygen deficiency) due to acute carbon monoxide poisoning may result in reversible neurological effects, or it may result in long-term (and possibly delayed) irreversible neurological (brain damage) or cardiological (heart damage) effects.

Other sources of carbon monoxide to be aware of are fireplaces, candles and our vehicles. Be very careful when warming your vehicles in the morning. The exhaust gases are full of carbon monoxide and find their way into our homes or even our neighbors' homes.

Protect yourself. Have a working carbon monoxide detector on each level of your home, especially near sleeping areas. If you experience a carbon monoxide alarm in your home, call 911 and move to fresh air. Leave the windows and doors closed so when our crews arrive, they can get an accurate assessment of the air inside your home.

As always, thank you and stay safe!

JANUARY WFWRD UPDATES

HOLIDAY COLLECTIONS

Wasatch Front Waste & Recycling District will not be collecting on New Year's Day. Since the holiday is on Wednesday this year, collections will be delayed by one day to accommodate. Taylorsville collections will occur on Friday, Jan. 3, instead of Thursday.

CURBSIDE CHRISTMAS TREE COLLECTION

WFWRD will be collecting Christmas trees during the month of January. For collection, place your undecorated tree on your curb. The trees will be collected the day after your regular collection day during the month of January. If your tree is not collected one week, a truck will be back the following week. Please call the WFWRD office, or chat with them online for additional information.

- Please remove all snow off the tree
- Trees cannot be accepted with decorations, lights, tree stands or flocking.
- Do not place the tree in your garbage, recycling or green waste can.
- If the tree is over 8 feet tall, please cut it into smaller sections.
- Artificial trees cannot be accepted

RECYCLING REMINDER

As gifts and presents are exchanged this season, please remember that paper-based wrapping paper is recyclable; but plastic or Mylar wrapping, and bows/ribbons are not recyclable.

CAN SET-OUT

WFWRD would like to remind all residents to have their cans placed on the street by 7 a.m. on the day of their normal collection. Salt Lake County Health Department Regulation 7, Ordinance 4.3.2 also requires that the cans be taken off the street the same day they are emptied. Residents are asked to keep this in mind and have their cans ready for collection in time, and to ensure they are taken off the street for the health and safety of our neighborhoods. This also helps snowplows effectively plow neighborhoods.

Wishing for Spring? Take Some Free Classes

The Conservation Garden Park is offering free classes to inspire, educate, and empower communities to create and enjoy waterwise landscapes.

Located on 10 acres in West Jordan, the Garden Park is easily accessible from all Wasatch Front communities. The garden began with six examples of waterwise landscaping in a mock residential setting. It has since expanded to include interactive exhibits for educating the public on waterwise design, planting, and irrigation — becoming one of Utah's premier water conservation teaching and demonstration gardens.

Taylorsville-Bennion Improvement District, as a Member Agency of Jordan Valley Water Conservancy District, encourages customers to explore this valuable resource. Sign up for classes by going online to conservationgardenpark.org.
