1. Review Agenda

The agenda for the City Council meeting was reviewed. Chair Harker pointed out that contrary to other recent City Council meetings, this meeting was not noticed as a strictly electronic meeting although Pam Roberts of Wasatch Front Waste and Recycling would make her presentation via Zoom. The public could now attend the meeting in person since restrictions on public gatherings had been lightened.

Chair Harker and Mayor Overson wished to discuss the possibility of allowing individuals making presentations in council meetings to do so via electronic means on a permanent basis.

The Council and staff discussed the upcoming public hearings pertaining to the budgets.

Council and staff also discussed current restrictions on what residents could do with their park strips. At present, colored or stamped concrete was allowed but traditional concrete was not. Chair Harker expressed interest in re-examining that portion of the code.

1. WELCOME, ROLL CALL AND PRELIMINARY MATTERS

Chair Harker called the meeting to order at 6:30 pm. A roll call was conducted wherein all councilmembers were present.

1.1 Opening Ceremonies – Pledge and Reverence – Youth Council

Kyndra Burnett led the Pledge of Allegiance followed by Katie Riggs who sang My Sweetheart and I. A high-school senior, Ms. Riggs had earned the opportunity to sing the song at the State competition but was unable to compete as the contest was cancelled due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

1.2 Mayor's Report

Mayor Overson pointed out to those gathered that if anyone needed facemasks for themselves and/or their family, there were quite a few available in a basket at the rear of the room.

She explained that she would present a comprehensive report regarding City efforts related to responding to COVID-19 at a future meeting.

Mayor Overson spoke of the annual Unified Police Department Banquet which would traditionally be held this time of year. Due to the pandemic, the banquet was not taking place. However, many officers had still received awards and she wished to take the opportunity to honor those officers from the Taylorsville Precinct. Specifically, she recognized the following:

- Medal of Distinction - Det. Scott Lloyd
- Sheriff's Star - Sgt. Rich Wilson
- Sheriff's Star – Nicholas Lavulo
- Sheriff's Star – Sgt. Brett Miller
- Sheriff's Star – Det. Kresdon Bennett
- Sheriff's Star – Det. Orin Neal
- Sheriff's Star – Det. Jason Albrecht
- Law Enforcement Officer of the Year – Officer Nate Clark
- Chief's Award- Officer Elayne Franco
- Chief's Award – Det. Orin Neal
- Chief's Award – Det. Kresdon Bennett
- Distinguished Unit Citation (SWAT) - Sgt. Aaron Lavin
- Distinguished Unit Citation – Det. Elayne Franco
- Team Citation (OOTS) – Officer Daniel Christensen
- Team Citation (OOTS)– Officer Herbert Allen

Mayor Overson was so impressed with Taylorsville's Unified Police Department officers and the leadership provided by Chief Tracy Wyant.

UPD was planning a DUI saturation for June 5. Even though there were significantly fewer cars on the road during the current pandemic, the number of impaired drivers had increased over last year.

The Mayor explained that on the following day, a crosswalk operation would be taking place at 4700 South Redwood Road to improve safety throughout the City. Additionally, new lighted crosswalks would soon be installed on 2200 West north of Salt Lake Community College as well as on 2700 West south of 6200 South.

On the following day, UPD's Tentative Budget was expected to be released. The City continued to seek fair and competitive wages for UPD officers. The City spent a great deal of money on public safety and both she and the staff were working very hard to ensure that City residents received the best value for their tax dollars. Mayor Overson expressed appreciation to Scott Harrington, John Taylor and Tracy Cowdell who had worked diligently to gather cost information so that they could determine what was fair and appropriate to pay for police services. She anticipated that the UPD Board would release their final budget in approximately one month.

The Mayor looked forward to hearing the Council's thoughts regarding the City's budget for FY20-21. Considering the COVID-19 pandemic and its effect on revenue streams, many items had to be removed from the budget. It was challenging to anticipate what the coming years' economy would be like and she expressed appreciation to the budget committee for providing their input.

The Youth Council had been shortchanged because of the pandemic but she still looked forward to congratulating them that evening and recognizing their accomplishments during the past school year.

1.3 Citizen Comments

Chair Harker explained that a citizen comment had been received via email. In her email, the resident expressed her excitement that Taylorsville Dayzz might still take place if Salt Lake County were to achieve a "green" response level. If it could not, however, the resident asked that fireworks still be scheduled as a morale booster for residents. A copy of the email would be included with the permanent agenda materials.

Chair Harker asked for any other public comments. There were none.

2. APPOINTMENTS

There were no appointments

3. REPORTS

3.1 Youth Council/Ambassador Senior Recognition Awards – *Kris Heineman

Kris Heineman spoke highly of the members of the Youth Council and highlighted the many accomplishments of each as well as some of their future plans.

- Kaylei Powers

- Katherine “Katie” Riggs
- Maizie Nicole Romney
- Kyndra Burnett
- David Stump

Mayor Overson and Ms. Heineman thanked the parents of these high-achieving individuals and the Mayor also expressed appreciation to Ms. Heineman for the work she did on the Youth Council and Youth Ambassador programs.

3.2 Justice Court Report

Judge Kwan pointed out that much had changed at the Justice Court as with everything else during the pandemic. In-person hearings were halted by the State on March 9. It was originally hoped that criminal matters would resume on June 1, 2020 but it was announced recently that would not be possible. The Judicial Council’s Management Committee would ultimately determine when such hearings would resume. There was a Risk Assessment subcommittee which had been charged with creating a base plan for all Utah courts. Local justice courts would then be able to review that plan and create their own plan, depending on their individual circumstances and conditions. He anticipated receiving the subcommittee’s plan soon. Court employees had been working primarily remotely during the pandemic while a minimum number of staff was kept on site per state requirements. Judge Kwan presented details regarding case load management and collected revenues from each of the last three quarters and compared them to the same time frame during the previous fiscal year. Some other information highlighted in Judge Kwan’s report included:

- The court’s actions and responsibilities regarding a Continuity of Operations Plan
- An increased number of defendants would now qualify for court-appointed counsel
- Explained the different circumstances that contributed to whether or not charges were dismissed.
- A list of the operational restrictions placed on justice courts by the state
- The number of cases rescheduled during the pandemic which would now need to be rescheduled again considering the new information provided by the Judicial Council
- All existing hard copies of closed case files had been destroyed after digital copies were created
- An overview of the anticipated deceleration of the risk response from ‘red’ level to ‘green’ level (the State’s court plan did not include an ‘orange’ level).
- Various lessons learned thus far during the pandemic crisis
- Projections for FY20-21

Judge Kwan stated that he recently appointed counsel on a parking violation because it was still a misdemeanor in the City code.

Vice Chair Christopherson and Tracy Cowdell both expressed interest in addressing a disparity between City and State code regarding winter parking citations.

The Judge indicated that he did not expect the court to ever return to what had been considered “business as usual.” One reason was that typically, 66% of defendants failed to appear on their court cases. During the pandemic where cases were heard electronically, 80%-90% defendants “appeared” as ordered.

Councilmember Burgess expressed appreciation for the report.

3.3 Wasatch Front Waste and Recycling Report – Pam Roberts

Ms. Roberts made her presentation electronically via Zoom and provided information pertaining to the Wasatch Front Waste and Recycling District activities for the first quarter of 2020. She explained that her agency had begun transitioning to paperless work orders which would increase efficiency and customer service. WFWRD had also activated a web based “Recycle Right” lookup tool to help residents determine what could and could not be recycled. Taylorsville residents had increased the amount of material they were recycling while also reducing the contamination rate (meaning they were attempting to recycle fewer non-recyclable materials.) There was a direct correlation between the amount of contamination and the cost to recycle.

WFWRD had several policies related to general sustainability and Ms. Roberts outlined those policies for the Council. She also described the changes that had been made this year to the area cleanup program and explained why the changes were necessary.

Earlier in the year, members of the City Council had toured the glass recycling facility at Momentum Recycling and so far, 115 households had subscribed to the glass recycling program in just the last month. She expected that number to increase.

Ms. Roberts explained that much more solid waste, green waste and glass had been collected as a result of the increase in the number of people spending extra time at home due to COVID-19 restrictions.

For the annual cleanup program, placing the dumpsters in driveways instead of public roadways had resulted in a significant decrease in illegal dumping which in turn increased safety for the staff. Scavenging had also been reduced. The program would be available in Kearns next and then it would be Taylorsville’s turn from June 12 to July 7. Postcards would be sent out very soon. She admitted that the dumpster reservation process was still a bit slow.

Vice Chair Christopherson asked that Ms. Roberts address any issues of damage to driveways. She stated that thus far, no damage had been reported which was a testament to the skill of the drivers delivering the dumpsters. She also pointed out the fact that WFWRD had only been able to hire 16 qualified drivers when 21 were needed. That was one reason the traditional cleanup program had been changed this year.

Chair Harker inquired if there were enough containers to meet the City's demand. Ms. Roberts responded that few people had been turned away thus far in Magna. Statistics would be available in the future.

3.4 Prosecutor/Defense Report – Doug Stowell/Casey Taylor

City Prosecutor Casey Taylor began his remarks by pointing out that those individuals that were able to adapt to the recent necessary changes to justice court operations were the most efficient. He explained how the traditional system had worked and then described how it now worked in the presence of the pandemic.

He credited the court clerks for their hard work in reaching out to each DUI and domestic violence defendant to arrange for a video appearance since those cases were still being heard. For both the prosecutor and defense attorneys, meeting with defendants electronically came with challenges as far as privacy was concerned. The negotiating process between defense and prosecution was also challenging but they were working on creating a process that would work. He felt the justice court had done a very good job of adapting and working creatively to hear cases. However, although significantly fewer cases were currently being heard, hearing them had become much more labor intensive for all involved. The case volume would return to normal at some point and there would be a huge backlog that would have to be dealt with. Mr. Taylor agreed with Judge Kwan's earlier comment that the failure-to-appear rate of DUI and domestic violence cases had been significantly reduced by the move to electronic appearances.

Doug Stowell explained the effect of the pandemic on his office, including layoffs. Some types of criminal activity had slowed with the pandemic but of course that would pick up again as stay-at-home orders were lifted. He pointed out that creating electronic break out rooms would help speed up the process of holding virtual court in the future.

5. PLANNING MATTERS

There were no planning matters.

6. FINANCIAL MATTERS

- 6.1 Public Hearing – To receive public comment concerning the Tentative Budget for the City of Taylorsville for the 2020-2021 fiscal year as well as any proposed changes to the 2019-2020 fiscal year budget – Scott Harrington

Vice Chair Christopherson commented on how impressed he had been by the administration’s response to the currently challenging times and how quickly they’d been to adapt to changing circumstances. He was pleased that the administration was not proposing a tax increase in order to address anticipated revenue shortfalls.

Mr. Harrington addressed a small number of amendments to the 2019-2020 budget which resulted in $46,000 in changes to the general fund balance. There were also a couple of changes to the CDBG fund due to some property that had been purchased, the cost of which would need to be repaid to the program since the land was purchased with federal funds. The City would go through the necessary process to redistribute those funds within the program. Regarding the Parks fund, an additional $140,000 in park impact fees was being recognized in the final amendments.

Chair Harker opened the public hearing. There were no comments by anyone physically present and none had submitted comments via email. Chair Harker closed the public hearing.

- 6.2 Resolution No. 20-16- A resolution of the City of Taylorsville approving Year-End Final Amendments to the 2019-2020 Fiscal Year Budget

MOTION: Vice Chair Christopherson moved to approve Resolution 20-16, adopting final year-end amendments to the 2019-2020 fiscal year budget. The motion was seconded by Councilmember Armstrong.

Vice Chair Christopherson	Yes
Councilmember Cochran	Yes
Councilmember Burgess	Yes
Councilmember Armstrong	Yes
Chair Harker	Yes

The motion passed 5-0

- 6.3 Resolution No. 20-17 – A resolution of the City of Taylorsville adopting the Final Budget for the Fiscal Year beginning July 1, 2020 and ending June 30, 2021.

Mr. Harrington explained that due to the current pandemic, the City would see a reduction in sales tax in the coming fiscal year. Overall, the proposed final budget was down roughly $2,153,000. He outlined many of the cuts that had been made such as some capital projects within the general fund, training, professional fees, overtime and some reductions in services. It was intended that streetscape maintenance in some areas would continue but perhaps not at its previous level. He appreciated the input he had received from department directors during budget preparation. Mr. Harrington mentioned that there were two figures that were not yet final and those were the Salt Lake County contract for bailiff services and the figure for UPD services. Those would be available at the next council meeting. Lastly, the City's health insurance rates would remain unchanged although both dental and vision coverage would increase slightly.

Chair Harker asked for some examples of the capital projects that would be delayed in the coming year. One example was a major cut to the Capital Equipment Government Building line item from $156,000 to $36,000. The Building Repair and Maintenance line was reduced from $133,000 to $74,000. Additionally, the roof of the Senior Center needed to be replaced but the City hoped to delay that at least until mid-year if not the following year. Also, a vehicle replacement would be delayed another year.

Mr. Taylor explained to the Council that it was likely that administration would need to return to the council throughout the year for further budget discussions.

Chair Harker opened the public hearing.

Taylorsville resident Marc McElreath pointed out that he was speaking as a citizen and not as a member of the budget committee. He hoped that the City would reconsider the proposed $100,000 cut to police overtime, particularly because there should be some savings if Taylorsville Dayzz was unable to take place or was even reduced in scale. He hoped those funds could be added back to the police overtime budget.

There was no one else in the council chambers who wished to comment, and no further comments were submitted via email or on social media. Chair Harker then closed the public hearing.

Vice Chair Christopherson indicated he was very supportive of the current budget as it was presented. He appreciated the lengthy budget discussion he had previously with Mr. Harrington and the explanation of the studies upon which the conservative budget was based. He hoped that if/when funds became available, the City could provide funding for the sidewalk program, police overtime, streetscapes, and the government buildings fund. It was important to protect city assets such as its buildings.

Councilmember Burgess stated he shared Vice Chair Christopherson's priorities. One additional area of concern he had involved the Arts Committee. He wished its funding to be returned to its previous level.

Councilmember Armstrong thought that was an example of something that could be brought forth in one of the anticipated midyear budget discussions.

Although he could appreciate Councilmember Armstrong's comments, Vice Chair Christopherson indicated he would support returning the Arts Council's budget to $15,000. A new Arts facility was being built and he wanted the City Council's support to be clear to the Arts Council. He also pointed out that the Arts Council could not plan their year if they did not know what their budget was going to be.

Councilmember Cochran asked if the 8.8% loss of revenue included the proceeds that were anticipated once the Arts Center opened. Mr. Harrington responded that it did not because it was not yet clear what those proceeds might be.

Chair Harker also wished to keep the Arts Council budget at $15,000 so that the Arts Council could plan accordingly and present a show that the City could be proud of. She expressed concern about the plan to spray for weeds less frequently. She did not wish the City to appear unattractive. Mr. Harrington responded that staff would keep an eye on the effect of the changed spray schedule and revisit it if necessary.

Regarding Taylorsville Dayzz, Chair Harker explained that since the City had already allocated $61,000 in the 2019-2020 budget. That gave the committee the $30,000 needed for fireworks and also leave them with another $30,000 to save for next year, reducing their budget in 2020-2021 by $30,000. The result would be $20,000 that could be reallocated to police overtime or wherever it was most needed. Councilmembers Armstrong and Burgess both expressed support of that idea.

Vice Chair Christopherson pointed out that there would be some savings since there would be no float or parade. Mayor Overson reminded the councilmembers that their role was not to determine how the Taylorsville Dayzz committee spent the funds they were given but instead, simply to determine how much they would be given by the City.

Vice Chair Christopherson indicated that most volunteers would not be in favor of making any adjustments to the Taylorsville Dayzz budget since they had given their heart and soul to the annual event for many, many years. He was opposed to making any adjustments to that line item. In short, he wished to restore the Arts Council allocation to the usual $15,000 and maintain current funding for Taylorsville Dayzz.

Councilmember Cochran asked where Vice Chair Christopherson proposed the additional $10,000 for the Arts Council come from. Vice Chair Christopherson suggested the money come from the general fund balance.

Chair Harker was interested in getting Chief Wyant's input on the possibility of losing $100,000 in overtime funds. Chief Wyant stated it would be disingenuous to indicate that the shortage would not be felt. While it would definitely impact their operations, he would find a way to make it work if necessary.

The Chair agreed with Mr. Taylor's earlier comment that the Council should revisit the budget over the course of the year as revenue became available and recommended having a list of priorities for when those conversations took place. Her priorities were public safety, streetscapes and sidewalks.

Mr. Taylor indicated that in addition to Chief Wyant, every City department had the attitude of “tell us what needs to be done and we will figure out how to make it work.” The City had a staff that would get the job done, regardless of the circumstances. It might not be easy, but it would be done.

Councilmember Armstrong said he had full faith in the Mayor and her administration. He felt they had been very innovative in avoiding what neighboring cities had to do, which was to reduce payroll. 28% of Taylorsville families were currently out of work and he thought it might be best to allow the administration to continue down their chosen path but return to the council in the coming months as revenues became available.

Mayor Overson expressed appreciation to Councilmember Armstrong for his faith. She also pointed out that since the City Council set the agenda, it could certainly ask for updates from the administration as often as they wished. She was happy to keep them informed just as she assumed, they would be happy to communicate with her if they noticed areas of the City that they felt needed more attention.

Mr. Harrington indicated that in the coming year, he could also provide more explanation with the monthly financial reports he already provided the Council. Mr. Taylor stated the Council could easily be provided with a monthly expense/revenue report.

Vice Chair Christopherson wished to confirm that a majority of the Council sought just one change to the tentative budget and that was to restore the Arts Council budget to $15,000. He understood that if/when funds became available, there was interest in restoring the budgets related to police overtime, sidewalks, streetscapes, and government facilities. An informal poll was taken, and a majority of the councilmembers nodded that they agreed on those points.

Chair Harker asked Mr. Harrington when he expected to see sales tax figures. He expected the March numbers by the end of the week. He anticipated March revenue to be down approximately $115,000 and April and May to be worse.

It was agreed that the Council would consider approving Resolution 20-17 at the June 6th City Council meeting.

Vice Chair Christopherson pointed out that the new Target store would open in October and would potentially represent new revenue to the City.

Mayor Overson wished to reaffirm how very hard the administration had been working on estimating appropriate UPD costs and on ensuring that the City received all that it should for the amount of money spent on police services.

Councilmember Armstrong said he hoped it wouldn't come to it but what was the term on the UPD contract? Mr. Taylor responded that it was a yearly contract which required one years' notice to terminate.

7. OTHER MATTERS

- 7.1 Resolution No. 20-14- A Resolution of the City of Taylorsville consenting to a Second Extension of the Local State of Emergency proclaimed in response to COVID-19 – Tracy Cowdell

Mr. Cowdell explained that this resolution was similar to the resolution passed the previous month. The State of Utah and Salt Lake County had both extended the state of emergency. He recommended that the City Council approve an additional extension of the Local State of Emergency at least until the next Council meeting, possibly until the Governor moved the risk level to the ‘green’ level.

MOTION: Councilmember Burgess moved to approve Resolution 20-14, approving a Second Extension of the Local State of Emergency until June 3, 2020. The motion was seconded by Councilmember Cochran.

Councilmember Armstrong	Yes
Councilmember Burgess	Yes
Chair Harker	Yes
Vice Chair Christopherson	Yes
Councilmember Cochran	Yes

The motion passed 5-0

- 7.2 Resolution No. 20-15 – A resolution of the City of Taylorsville approving an Interlocal Cooperation Agreement among the City of Taylorsville, Sandy City, West Jordan City, South Jordan City and West Valley City to create a consortium relating to the HOME Investment Partnerships Program for Fiscal Year 2021-2023 – Wayne Harper

Wayne Harper explained that the best opportunity for the City was to combine funds with other entities and have Salt Lake County administer the program which would result in lower overhead costs for all entities.

Chair Harker asked what the funds were typically used for and Mr. Harper responded that generally they were used for capital renovations and repairs to homes of qualified individuals.

MOTION: Councilmember Armstrong moved to approve Resolution 20-15 as presented. The motion was seconded by Councilmember Burgess.

Councilmember Cochran	Yes
Vice Chair Christopherson	Yes
Chair Harker	Yes
Councilmember Burgess	Yes
Councilmember Armstrong	Yes

The motion passed 5-0

8. NEW ITEMS FOR SUBSEQUENT CONSIDERATION (No Action)

- 8.1 Vice-Chair Christopherson – nothing for subsequent consideration
- 8.2 Councilmember Burgess – nothing for subsequent consideration.
- 8.3 Council Member Armstrong – nothing for subsequent consideration.
- 8.4 Council Member Cochran – nothing for subsequent consideration.
- 8.5 Council Chair Harker – Chair Harker reiterated her desire for the City to address the portion of the municipal code that prohibited traditional concrete on park strips.

Mr. Taylor suspected that the reason the Code required concrete to be either colored or stamped was a matter of aesthetics and that the intention of the code was likely to have a mixture of things in those areas—some landscaping in addition to hard surfaces that were more attractive than traditional concrete.

Mayor Overson felt the Planning Commission could review the current ordinance and ensure that it made sense. It was important to strike a balance between one resident’s desire to conserve water with another’s desire to have an aesthetically pleasing appearance to the area around one’s home.

On another topic, Mr. Taylor referred to the earlier discussion regarding the level of city services and staff’s willingness to do whatever was necessary to get the job done. He hoped that everyone understood that if they did not see a reduction in the level of services, it was not because the staff had not already been working hard before or that they previously did not have enough work to occupy them. At some point in the future, the City was bound to see a decrease simply because the level of work many employees were or would be providing was simply not sustainable. Publicly no one might see how hard the staff was working, but it was happening. They were giving back to the Mayor and Council for how generous and kind they had been to them.

Chair Harker agreed that the staff was amazing and very hardworking. They were all a team and that was quite evident.
